

Skin Cancer Screening

Leading Onsite Screening
Programs at Your Workplace

Melanoma is fast-growing and the most life-threatening of all skin cancers.

As an employer, it's important to provide onsite screenings, along with education on sun protection and how to identify possible melanoma.

Outdoor workers have a particularly high risk of skin cancer, however indoor workers also have a high risk of melanoma because they spend most of the week inside but are exposed to short bursts of intense sunlight on weekends and holidays.

Your skins best chance against Melanoma is early detection, so don't delay – book today.
